| Entry visa                           | Students who are citizens of EU or EEA countries, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Israel, Japan, South Korea, Switzerland or the USA do not need an entry visa for Germany. Upon arrival in Berlin, citizens of these countries (excluding EU countries) must apply for a Residence Permit (see “Arrival in Berlin” below). We strongly recommend to apply for a visa in the home country for the whole duration of stay as waiting times can be up to 12 weeks or more to apply for a Residence Permit in Berlin and travelling within Europe will be restricted during the application period. Students who are NOT citizens of the countries listed above must apply for a student visa (Visum zu Studienzwecken) at their local German Embassy or a German General Consulate before they come to Germany. We urge these students to apply for a study visa as soon as possible and for the whole duration of their stay. It takes at least eight weeks, sometimes even a few months, to process the visa application. The necessary documents concerning admission to our university (and, if applicable, the scholarship offer) will be sent via email to the student as soon as possible. | Waiver                               | Exchange students must have comprehensive health insurance valid in Germany in order to enroll as full-time students at Freie Universität Berlin AND to obtain a residence permit. Students who EITHER have the European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) or the Global Health Insurance Card (GHIC) OR who can provide proof of an adequate comprehensive health insurance valid in Germany (full coverage for illness and emergency medical services) may request an insurance waiver. Please note that a waiver can only be obtained from a German state-regulated health insurance company, not from the university. Since many insurance policies purchased outside Germany require substantial co-payments, have caps, or exclude many illnesses, it has become increasingly difficult for exchange students to obtain a waiver. We therefore urge all students under the age of 30 to purchase German student health insurance for about € 150 per month. German student health insurance policies are very comprehensive and are automatically accepted by the office granting Residence Permits. | Social fees /public transportation   | Exchange students are exempt from university fees, but they still need to pay the semester ticket and social fees of approx. € 330 per semester. These fees are not paid to the university, but go to the student union and cover the cost of a public transportation ticket for the Berlin metropolitan area (and sometimes more) for the entire semester. Students will be asked to pay the fees before arrival in Berlin as part of the enrollment process.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

|                                                | Orientation takes place during the 5–10 days before the start of the lecture period. Students are required to participate in the orientation program, which provides them with essential information about studying at Freie Universität Berlin. It covers topics such as course selection, how to use the FUB IT facilities, libraries, computer labs, and campus tours. The current orientation program is available online at: https://www.fu-berlin.de/en/studium/veranstaltungen/orientierungsveranstaltungen/index.html                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

| Undergraduate degree programs           | Freie Universität Berlin offers a broad variety of undergraduate degree programs . These lend themselves to different combinations, allowing students to mix subject areas: Interactive combination table . Exchange students are allowed to combine subject fields beyond the given subject combination for regular students. With few exceptions, all undergraduate degree programs are open to exchange students. Enrollment in the following courses is subject to availability of lab classes and to prior approval by the institute/department: biochemistry, bioinformatics, and biology . Restrictions apply in pharmacy and law . The Law Department prefers direct exchange students from institutions who also accept law students. There are only very few places available for students from other exchange programs. Please note that Human Medicine and Veterinary Medicine are NOT open to exchange students. |
| Postgraduate degree programs            | Freie Universität Berlin offers a range number of master's degree programs. The following programs are open for postgraduate exchange students without restriction: Modern German Literature, Philosophy and Political Science. All other master's degree programs are restricted and need prior approval from the institute/department. Please contact us if you plan to nominate students for a particular master's program. Please note that in general BA students cannot be enrolled in master's programs and cannot register for individual master's level courses. Exceptions can, however, be made on a case-by-case basis upon request. Fee-based continuing education master's programs are NOT open to exchange students.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| PhD program                             | If students fulfill the necessary prerequisites, exchange students may enroll as visiting PhD students.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Modules                                 | Bachelor's and master's programs are structured around modules, which usually consist of two content-related courses (e.g., a lecture and a seminar). While modules are offered on a regular basis (at least every other semester), the content of the individual lecture or seminar might vary from one semester to the next.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

| Course catalogue                        | The courses offered during the current semester are listed in the course catalogue ( Vorlesungsverzeichnis, VV ), which is available about one month prior to the beginning of the semester. It is organized according to departments, degree programs, and modules.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Course approval at partner universities | When applying for an exchange to Freie Universität Berlin, some of our partner universities require students to get approval for their subject selection prior to submitting their application (e.g., a Learning Agreement). Since applications have to be submitted at least six months before the beginning of the exchange semester, it is not possible for students to access the course catalogue of the respective semester in time. Therefore, students should seek preliminary approval based on the course catalogue of prior semesters.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Course Registration                     | Students have to register for courses on our online portal Campus Management before the semester starts. Information on how to access the portal and other details will be provided during orientation. Please note that in order to attend classes within our master's degree programs, students need prior approval from the respective lecturers or program directors.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Special classes for exchange students   | FU Berlin offers a liberal arts style study program exclusively for exchange students: “Berlin and Germany in a European Context” (10 courses in German / 10 courses in English). The seminars focus on the culture, society, and history of Berlin and Germany and are an additional offer extended to exchange students who wish to learn more about these topics. Detailed information can be found here: Courses for international exchange students • Education • Freie Universität Berlin                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Recommended course load                 | Freie Universität Berlin does not have any course or credit requirements for exchange students. For degree-seeking students the workload is 30 ECTS, we recommend between 10 and 30 ECTS (3 – 6 courses). Exchange students who study in English only can flexibly combine all options, e.g. German language course (4h per week) + two courses of the liberal arts program + 2 courses of their own major.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Courses at other universities           | Exchange students may also attend courses at Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin, Technische Universität Berlin, and the University of Potsdam. In order to earn credits for these courses, students need approval from the respective lecturer in advance and must fulfill the individual university's requirements.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

| Terminating enrollment                  | At the end of their stay at Freie Universität Berlin, exchange students need to officially terminate their enrollment ( Exmatrikulation ). This step is very important, especially if students wish to return to a German university at a later point.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |           |           |           |      |           |              |           |            |     |                   |
